DEMOCRATS SHUT OUT FROM VOTING

Strong Proof That Treasurer and Deputies Closed Offices and Left.

SOUGHT TO

Neither the Treasurer Nor His Subordinates Could be Found to Receive the Money.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BIG STONE GAP, VA., May 26.-As your correspondent from this place, I wired you or. May 5th an account of the conduct of the treasurer of Wise county, and one of his deputies, in the matter of the payment of poll taxes by Demo-crats, in which local Democrats alleged the treasurer and his deputies promised to be in their offices to receive these promises, it was alleged they had dodged and could not be found by the majority of those wanting to pay their poll taxes.

No denial of the facts stated in that telegram has come from the treastrer or his deputies until in the issue of the Bristol Heraid, of May 25th, the treasurer, Mr. R. P. Barron, makes a partial denial for himself but none for his deputive.

denial for himself but none for his deputy.

In order that this matter may be set before the public in its true light, I give below the facts in detail:

A few days before May 6th, the local Democratic Committee and workers had obtained from the treasurer a list of all persons who had been assessed with taxes in this district, which list showed those who had paid and those who had not paid. The district embraces four voting precincts, two of which were in the mining region, where voters often change their locations and for those reasons, they are more apt than in other communities to miss the treasurer and overlook paying their poil taxes and many likewise were not assessed with taxes.

The work of seeing personally all Democratics.

See the Voters.

The work of seeing personally all Demonrate voters who had not been assessed and arranging to have the proper certificates issued by the clerk, and seeing all who had not pald their poli taxes and getting them either to visit the treasurer in person or send their money to pay the taxes, was assigned to various members of the local committee. A number of voters paid their taxes in the few days preceding May 6th, but a larger number arranged to pay them on the 6th.

number arranged to pay them on the fish.

Mr. Barron, the treasurer, and Mr. Bickley, his resident deputy, both well knew that the Democratic workers were visiting the voters and arranging for the payment of a large number of these poll taxes on May 6th. Both were applied to to know if they would be at the treasurer's office in Big Stone Gap on that day. Both stated that they would be there. The deputy, in fact, had requested some voters to meet him here on that day for that purpose. The treasurer stated that he would be out of town during the forenoon, but would be in his office during the afternoon of the 8th.

Carried Off the Books.

Sth.

Carried Off the Books.

When the morning of the 6th arrived the deputy took his books, containing all the tax tickets, and rode out of town about 6 o'clock, and did not return again during the day. Vigorous eiforts were made to locate him during the day, but no trace could be found of him. The treasurer was out of town during the forencon collecting license taxes, and did return about 12 o'clock, and was in his office for a few minutes, not more than ten or fifteen minutes. He then locked up his office, went home to dinner, and left town immediately, and did not return again during the day to his office, or certainly not until after nightfall, and there was no light in his office after nightfall. A large number of tax payers visited his office at short intervals during the whole of this day, and a number likewise 'phoned to his residence. Efforts were made during the afternoon to locate him west of town, in the direction in which he was last seen going, but without avail. Mr. Barron states that he was in his office between the hours of 10 and 12 in the forenoon. The fact is, according to my information, he was there only about fifteen minutes. He further states that in the afternoon he went down below town, hardly outside of the corporation limits, returning about 5 o'clock. He would thus make the impression and have it inferred that he returned to his office at 5, and was there ready to réceive poll taxes. Such is not the fact. He did not return to his office at 5, or any other time during the afternoon or night of May 6th, and if he the fact. He did not return to his office at 5, or any other time during the afternoon or night of May 6th, and if he returned to his home at 5 and remained there, the fact was concealed from those who were trying to find him. All of the foregoing statements as to his whereabouts can be abundantly proven by men of the highest integrity.

Many Disappointed.

Another of those remarkable cures by Cuticura, after doctors and all else by Cuticura, after doctors and all else had failed, is testified to by Mr. M. C. The Statement Confirmed. The Statement Confirmed.

We have read the foregoing article, and being members of the local Democrate Committee or workers adding in the matter referred to therein, are cognizant of the facts stated by Mr. Chalkley. The statements he makes are true and are very conservative.

Mr. Barron told me on the night of May bth, in the presence of w. D. McNiel, commissioner of the revenue, that he would be in Big Stone Gap the afternoon of the sixth and at his office, and would receive and receipt for poll taxes at that time. I was told by several others, whose statements I believe, that both Mr. Barron and Mr. Bickley, his deputy, had promised to be at their office at that time. R. T. IRVINE.

Mr. R. P. Barron told me on the night of May 5th that he would be in Big Stone Gap in the atternoon of the 6th; and W. W. Bickley told me the same night that as far as he knew he would be in his office on the 8th, and that he or Mr. Barron would be there, and the impression made on me was that he or Mr. Barron would remain all day at the treasurer's office.

TREASURER'S ANSWER.

Barron Replies to Charge That He Disfranchised Democrats.

He Disfranchised Democrats. The following reply from R.! P. Barron, treasurer of Wise county, that he disfranchised Democrats, is published simply in the interest of fair play and to give both sides of a question:

Big Stone Gap. Va., May 22, 1963.

I have not heretofore deemed it necessary to reply to certain charges made against me in regard to my "leaving my post of duty," as it was called, on Saturday, May 6th. No attention is paid to the matter here, where the people are acquainted with the facts in the case, but owing to the wide publicity given it for which I have just learned), I feel it my duty to let the public know just what took place.

(of which I have just learned), I feel it my duly to let the public know Just what took place.

In the first place, I was not collecting taxes myself, but for the convenience of the tax-payers I have placed a deputy in the eastern end of the county at Coeburn, one in the 'western end at Big Stone Gap, and one in the center at Wise Courthouse, who take charge of the delinquent tax tickets after December 1st of each year, collect the taxes, and settle with me for the same.

Byery person has had ample opportunity to pay his taxes. I myself advertised and sat at every postoffice and public place in the county last fall, and my deputies have done likewise, this spring, by posting large handbills distributed over their respective districts to individuals, calling especial attention to the disfranchising clause of the Constitution.

I am cashier in the bank here, and my office is in the same building, and my home is less than one hundred yards from my office. I have been at all times in my office or in the bank, with the exception of a few days while I was receiving license tax. I have never refused to receive taxes from any one, but, on the other hand, I have always done all I could to accommodate everybody. Only two days before, at the request of several persons, all of whom were Democrats, I went to my deputy and took up five tickets with my own money and held them for their convenience.

The tax books were open at all times for examination by the Democratic workers, as well as the Republicans, and they checked off the paid and unpaid whenever they desired. And only two weeks before I cheeked up the books of my home district with my deputy and furnished the Democratic committée with a complete list of the commissioner's books with the names of those who had, paid marked.

As to my whereabouts on May 6th:

As to my whereabouts on May 6th; Early in the morning I went over to East Stone Gap, about one mile, to license the merchants at that place, returning Stone Gap, about one mile, to license the merchants at that place, returning to my office about 10 o'clock and remaining there until after 12, and no one came. In the afternoon I went down below town, hardly outside of the corporation, to see some parties, returning about 5 o'clock. After my return to town I receipted three persons for their poil tax, all of whom were Democrats. I had not made cay engagements to be at my office on that day, and no one came while I was there to pay their taxes. If they had I certainly would have received their money and turned it over to my deputy, as usual.

Now, as to the list 'phoned over to Wise by the Democratic committee to he paid by Mr. W. B. Fulton to my deputy there, twelve of them had previously paid their own taxes; seven were at Stonega and Norton, and none of them were in town that day; seven were not in the county on that day; seven were not in the county on that day; seven were not in the county on that day; seven were not in the county on that day; seven were not in the county on that day; seven were not in the county on that day; seven were not in the renainder were scattered over the district. Twenty-three of the number were not assessed and could not have legally paid without clerk's certificate of registration, as the law directs in such cases, which none of them had. Several of them had been returned delinquent for the previous year, and should have paid their taxes for that year to the clerk. A great many voters of the district, both those who reside in the town and these from points out of town, came in person to make their payment, and others are their own money to the treasurer for this purpose, it being known that he received mans the control of the control of Sam White, a negro, was also arrested upon the same charge, as being Goodwyn's accompilee.

Goodwyn was brought to Emporlat, where he was given a preliminary hearing before the local authorities, and was subsequently released upon a heavy bond to appear's before the hext term of the Circuit Court, which convenes June 6th. White is now in Jail, awaiting investigation by the next grand jury.

The facts, as obtained, are to the effect that Board has been repeatedly warned to leave his neighborhood by means of posted notices and by masked persons unknown to him, the last of which was Tuesday, when, nearing his home, he was held up by two men in masks about midday and told if he did not leave the community in a few hours his life would be forfeited.

The highwaymen emphasized this statement by a demonstration of leveled guns upon their victim.

As Board had not signified his willingness to leave upon former commands, he decided to defend himself in the present instance, and drawing a revolver he fired repeatedly at the two men, one of whom he struck, at the same time receiving four slight bullet wounds himself.

The shooting attracted the attention of several neighbors nearby, who ran to Board's assistance and conveyed him home. The daring highwayman who was struck by Board during the fusilade was assisted by his uninjured companion into the adjoining woods, a trail of blood leading an investigating party quite a distance therein, where the trail ceased.

Board is prominently connected in the Scotch settlement in Greensylle, and distance therein, where the trail ceased.
